

At the Institute of Political Science at the University of Lucerne (CH), we are looking for a

Research and Teaching Assistant post-graduate or post-doc level

The position is for 5 years (with a conditional option for two further years for Post-Docs) and starts on September, 1st 2017 or later.

Tasks:

- Normative and/or empirical research in the following fields: democracy, citizenship, multilevel/transnational systems and migration
- Teaching (in German and/or English language) in the following programs: Political Science, Philosophy, Politics and Economics (PPE), as well as World Society and Global Governance

We expect:

- University degree or dissertation in Political Science
- Strong interest in normative theory and/or empirical methods
- Proficiency in English; fluency in German is an asset, but not a condition

We offer:

- An excellent atmosphere in a small and dedicated team within a young and non-bureaucratic university
- A 50% position, with the option for Post-Docs to bring your salary up to 100% through the (joint) acquisition of research funds
- A working place directly at the shores of Lake Lucerne
- A working contract in accordance with the regulations of the Canton Lucerne

For more information on this position you can contact Prof. Dr. Joachim Blatter, joachim.blatter@unilu.ch. Information about the Institute of Political Science can be found at: www.unilu.ch/polsem.

Please send us the following as part of your application: 1) a cover letter explaining why you are interested in the position; 2) your CV, including a list of publications and research experience; 3) an outline of your research ideas (max. 2 pages). These documents should be sent electronically until June, 30th 2017 to:

Universität Luzern, Kennziffer 2350/100, Personaldienst.

Please use the following e-mail address: jobs@unilu.ch